Seasons of Change, Seeds of Faith

"There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens." — Ecclesiastes 3:1

As autumn arrives, the world seems to slow down, wrapped in a blanket of golden leaves and crisp air. The vibrant greens of summer give way to rich shades of amber, crimson, and bronze, reminding us that God's creation is always in motion—changing, growing, and preparing for what's ahead. This season is a gentle teacher, showing us that letting go is not an end, but a step toward renewal.

Just as trees release their leaves, we too are called to release burdens, fears, or habits that weigh us down. Sometimes, God asks us to loosen our grip on things we thought we needed, so He can place something better in our hands. Autumn whispers that surrender is not loss—it is trust.

The crisp mornings and earlier sunsets invite us to pause, reflect, and draw closer to Him. In this season, gratitude becomes a powerful act of worship. We can thank Him for the blessings already given, for the lessons learned in past seasons, and for the promises yet to come. Even when the branches look bare, God is still at work beneath the surface, preparing new growth for spring.

Reflection:

1) What is God asking you to release this season?
2) How can you nurture your faith while waiting for His next chapter?
3)Where can you see His beauty in the changes around you?

Prayer:

Lord, thank You for the beauty of autumn and the reminder that change is part of Your plan. Help us to trust You in every season, to let go when You call us to, and to grow in faith as we wait for Your promises to unfold. Teach us to see Your hand in every falling leaf, every quiet moment, and every new beginning You prepare for us. Amen.
